1. All-American Grill

What's more American than summer grilling? Whether Memorial Day, Independence Day, or Labor Day, the barbecue rings true with red, white, and blue. For an "All-American Grill" barbecue, gather friends and family, play patriotic tunes, and fire up the grill.

Recipe: Black Pepper America's Cut with Molasses Butter (see recipe attached)

Accompaniment: Grilled corn on the cob, American flag memorabilia

Music: America the Beautiful

2. Shabby Chef

For the chef within, grilling provides an ideal opportunity to show off skills and creativity. Here's a shortcut to effortlessly impress even the toughest critics of barbecue. With a rich and tasty pork recipe, your "Shabby Chef" barbecue will be the talk of the town, so be sure to invite all the neighbors.

Recipe: Mahogany Chops (see recipe attached)

Accompaniment: Grilled baby squash, outdoor candelabra

Music: Ella Fitzgerald

3. Sizzling Bayou

Classic barbecue sauce recipes strive to bring out the best of Southern flavor, so why not use authentic Cajun seasonings. For a down-home "Sizzling Bayou" barbecue, bring out the jazzy side of Southern belles and gentlemen. If guests can't stand the heat, throw 'em to the gators!

Recipe: Cajun-Style Spiced Pork Chops (see recipe attached)

Accompaniment: Red beans & rice, Mardi Gras beads

Music: Live brass band

4. Around the World

Burgers have international appeal. Bring all the cultures of the world together with a cosmopolitan twist on the barbecue classic – using lean ground pork. Take guests from the Far East to South America and back with an "Around the World" barbecue.

Recipe: The Other Burger (Variations: Eastern, Veggie, South of the Border, Italian – see recipe attached)

Accompaniment: Grilled potato wedges with choice of global seasonings, flags of the world

Music: Global drums
